

Diabetes Research day 2018

Tuesday, February 13th, Agardh lecture hall, CRC, Scania University Hospital, Malmö, Sweden.

- 12:00 Registration and lunch
- 13:00 Welcome
- 13:15-14:15 Key note speaker:
Professor John A Todd, Oxford University, UK
"Genes to clinic in type 1 Diabetes"
- 14:15-14:45 João Duarte, Lund University, SE
"Brain energy metabolism in type 2 Diabetes"
- 14:45-15:00 PhD student speech of the year 1
Ingrid Yao Mattisson
"Elevated markers of death receptor-activated apoptosis are associated with increased risk for development of diabetes and cardiovascular disease"
- 15:00-15:30 Coffee
- 15:30-16:00 Hjelt stipend lecture, Emma Ahlqvist
The stipend is generously donated by Ulf Andersson for outstanding achievements in research granted by The Bo and Kerstin Hjelt Diabetes Foundation
"Novel subgroups of adult-onset diabetes sharpen genetic associations and improve prediction of outcome"
- 16:00-16:15 PhD student speech of the year 2
Louise Brunkwall, Lund University, SE
"Human gut microbiota in Malmö Offspring Study"
- 16:15-16:30 Announcement of the DPLU PhD student prize and prize lecture
- 16:30-17:30 The Leif C. Groop award for outstanding diabetes research (formerly known as the DPLU/LUDC Nordic Prize for an outstanding young diabetes investigator).
The stipend has been made possible by a generous donation from Novo Nordisk Scandinavia. Its purpose is professional improvement. It should be used for future education, research or the like, and be of value for patients, academic research and health care.
- Recipient: Jorge Lira Ruas, KI, Stockholm, SE
Prize lecture title: "Understanding the impact of exercise on muscle, metabolism and mental health"
- 17:30 Concluding remarks
- 17:45 Mingle and dinner at CRC